Have you ever thought about being a race driver? Of course you have!

Fun with cars! Even more fun with vintage race cars driven hard on real race tracks! What could be better? Perhaps you've been to the dragstrip or autocross and waited and waited for a few seconds of fun. This is nothing like that! We actually get to drive hard and work up a sweat! After a day of practice, qualifying and racing with RMVR you are worked! Do it for two days in a row and you're spent! Road racing is physical, it's challenging, it's mentally exhausting, it has an element of danger involved and it's the most fun you can imagine!

If you take this course you will become an addict!

No joke, once you start road racing you will become obsessed with the need for speed. It will occupy your thoughts year round! You will spend time that could be used mowing the lawn or painting your dining room trying to shave another pound off the car or eke another horsepower out of the engine. It's a sickness for sure, but none of us wants to get well!

If this kind of party appeals to you please join us for the 2016 RMVR Drivers School at Pikes Peak International Raceway. Hang out with like-minded people and enjoy a fun fast-paced weekend. Make new friends, see (and touch) some really cool cars and acquire the skills to make you proficient in a racing environment!

The school is offered only once each year. For 2016 we are back at PPIR, which is a fabulous teaching facility with nice classrooms, indoor plumbing and garages. The school runs all day Saturday and Sunday with an optional Friday afternoon move-in, tech inspection, and an evening "meet and greet".

We will offer two courses. The "Precision" course is designed for the enthusiast who owns a performance car and has the desire to use it as it was intended while improving situational awareness and car control for everyday driving. As an added incentive, the club will include a one-year RMVR membership with the cost of the Precision school. This allows those students to come out and drive at any RMVR event which includes a precision run group.

The "Competition" course is intended for the driver who has a vintage race car and ultimately wants to obtain a full competition license and compete with RMVR and other organizations. Both courses cover similar material and have comparable track time but the competition students will compete in an actual student/instructor race at the end of the weekend. Successful completion of the competition course will result in the issuance of a provisional racing license.

We also plan to have a skidpad, a threshold braking lane, and possibly an autocross course during the weekend. Watch for more details.

Coffee, donuts, and lunch both days are included in your registration fee. RMVR also hosts a Saturday evening dinner and social at the track. It is a great time to share stories with the other drivers and instructors.

The weekend will surely prove to be memorable! Each student will have a personal instructor from the ranks of the RMVR membership. There may even be guest appearances by real live professionals! It's going to be a lot of fun! Read on for more details.

Competition School

This program is intended for those who already have (or will be purchasing) an eligible vintage race car* and are seeking a full Competition License to regularly race with RMVR. During this two day school, you will participate in approximately 8 classroom sessions and 8 on-track sessions where you will:

- Learn to exercise precise and expert car control
- Get specific instruction from a team of expert driving instructors
- Learn about vintage racing and the vintage racing ethic
- Share in the joy of racing in a safe environment
- Participate in the Sunday student race
- Receive a provisional racing license

By the end of the weekend, you will be equipped to safely and confidently drive on track in a racing environment.

Precision School

Perhaps you are not currently ready to buy a vintage race car, but you want a quality track experience. You want to gain track skills and see if you like it. Participate in our Precision Drivers' School using your own street car!

During this two day school you will participate in approximately 8 classroom sessions and 8 on-track sessions where you will:

- Receive specific instruction targeted to Precision students
- Learn to exercise precise and expert car control
- Get specific instruction from a team of expert driving instructors
- Learn about driving the PPIR track
- Share in the joy of racing in a safe environment (there is no wheel to wheel competition in the Precision School however safe passing is allowed)

By the end of the weekend, you will be equipped to safely and confidently drive on track and at speed.

This is your chance! Do it now!

The cost is only $350 ($300 if you sign up early!)
